Gdańsk's Water Supply Trail is a unique tourist attraction, in line with the emerging travel trends incorporating elements of adventure tourism, urban exploration and survival. While visiting the three facilities that once were and one still is a functioning water reservoir you will enjoy different views of the city – it is possible to see its underground part and the bird's eye view. The trail presents the wonders of Gdańsk's engineering heritage. It combines the knowledge of the history of technology with that of natural science. Gdańsk's Water Trail is open during the summer season. Stara Orunia Reservoir has been a popular wintering place for bats for many years.
